A young lawyer in Pulaski took a nap the other evening and had a horrid dream. He says it would have been a night mare if it had not been in day time, and he asks us to tell him the proper name for it. Mrs. Boyd M. Young had a very painful accident to occur to her last Monday. By some means she got her finger fastened under the tucker of a sewing machine and ran the points almost through it and had to remain in that condition for twenty or thirty minutes, until she could send for Mr. Myers, the agent, and have him release her. A spring was out of place so that no one present could manage it until Mr. Myers came. We imagine it was very painful.

BASE BALL.

Pulaski Plays Columbia.

The game of Base Ball between the Kangaroos of Columbia and the Stars of Pulaski was witnessed by a very large audience of ladies and gentlemen last Saturday evening.

The Kangaroos came down on the 11:30 train and were carried to the picnic ground, where they partook of the elegant dinner there spread, and immediately afterwards both clubs and a large part of the picknickers left for the grounds near Giles College, where the game commenced about two o'clock.

The Stars lost the toss, and led off at bat, taking the bulge at the start and retaining and increasing it to the end, as the innings show. According to an agreement between the Captains, Hill of the Stars and Dick Irwin of the Kangaroos played in the field, but did not bat. Our boys were in excellent trim and spirits, ever on the alert and always at the right place, making very few misplays.

The Kangaroos played well for the most part, but the superior batting of the Stars left them little chance. Several good plays of the Kangaroos won immense applause, as they deserved. We don't want to make any distinctions, or we might mention some of the good plays made by individual members of each club—our boys in particular. Some of them played like professionals, never missing. After the game Capt. J. R. Crow presented on behalf of a lady a bouquet to the Stars, and complimented them in fitting terms for their valor and achievement. Capt. J. P. Abernathy then presented a bouquet to the Kangaroos, and in beautiful phrases complimented them and excused them for their defeat upon the ground that accidents will happen in the best of families. Capt. Lester of the Stars and Capt. Lander of the Kangaroos responded to the presentation speeches appropriately and admirably, after which the audience adjourned. The following is the score:

A Happy Consummation.

The event of the week was the marriage, of Mr. GILES REYNOLDS to Miss MILDRED EZZEL last Wednesday evening. A short notice of which we gave last week.

The marriage was attended by only a few select friends and relatives. Giles has reason to be proud that he has won the affections and the hand of so beautiful and accomplished a lady, and as for him, why there does not live a cleverer gentleman, nor one who more appreciates loveliness and beauty than him, and we know she can never regret the bestowal she has made upon him.

We do not know a couple that is more deserving of life's rarest blessing, and certainly the goddess who administers these precious gifts will crown them fast and thick until their cup runs over. At least we wish that so it may be. A reception was given them at his mother's on Thursday evening, at which place a numerous concourse of invited guests assembled to congratulate them and partake of the joys incident to the occasion.

J. M. Bass, Esq., has been favorably spoken of as our next Representative. In our opinion we could not get a better man. We hope when the time comes to put forward candidates for that office that he will not be overlooked.

Horse swapping is still kept up to a considerable extent. Some of the boys have become so much interested in the matter as to go to the jockey yard on public days, and some time by some means bring back a pretty good old frame. Our neighbor, the Bethany correspondent, says he does not wish to get into a controversy with us on the saloon question, &c. We would simply ask him what he cast the first stone in that direction for, if he did not mean to get into a controversy? He seems to be excited over the matter—almost ashy. We are the one to hump our back, if we were to notice the insult he offers; but let us have peace, neighbor. Keep cool; your land holders and school are not likely to be swallowed up or disgraced either. If one of our neighbors should take it upon him to put up a saloon there. All one has to do is to say the word; a trade can be made any day for a lot to build on. So he need not fret—he might have to be close neighbor to one of those monster saloon keepers, and that soon, though he shall not be hurt. We don't particularly advocate the cause of liquor dealers, saloon-keepers or anything of the kind, but so long as the law tolerates such, just so long there will be such, and we had just as well have men engaged in it who will keep order and carry it on right, as to have those who would not keep order. We will see our influence (if we have any) in securing him a first-class bar-keeper—one who can deal out the critter in the very best style. Hoping his troubles are at an end so far as the saloon question is concerned, we respectfully subscribe ourselves KILLER.

Married.

Married, at Canton Church, Wilcox county, Ala., on the 27th of April, 1876, by Rev. W. P. Paisley, formerly of Giles county, Tennessee, to Miss Minnie Johnson, of Wilcox county, Ala., Rev. T. K. Paisley officiating.

Did Archy's relatives and acquaintances in Giles know the many attractions of the blushing maiden whom he has wooed and won, they would join his numerous friends of the Alt. diocese in hearty congratulations.

Archy's deep piety and strict adherence to christian principles, and his noble blood, high culture, and refined feelings, together with her good sense which enables her not only to entertain but also make pleasant all classes of persons, eminent in all the responsible position of a minister of the gospel and his helpmeet. May God bless them with a long prosperous and happy life.

To the Grangers.

The Tennessee State Grange, at its last meeting, decided that the County Granges in this State should provide a lecturer and instructor, to visit the subordinate granges of the county. And Giles County Grange having entrusted his important work to me—giving me such assistance as I may need, I would therefore publish the following appointments for myself and for Dr. T. K. Paisley and Capt. T. B. Wade, who have kindly consented to assist me in this work, for the ensuing month, to visit the subordinate granges of the county. We think the idea an excellent one, and hope that the schools invited will respond. Mr. C. has had from 40 to 50 pupils all the year, and is enthusiastically endorsed by the whole community.
